Lesson Measurable Learning Objectives:

The student will write a personal essay in which he/she will consider and analyze the skills he/she has developed during his/her school experience to help him/her be a life-long learner.

Lesson Formative Assessment (acceptable evidence):

Assessment should relate to the performance outcome for goals, objectives and GLS's. Assessment can be question answer, performance activity, etc.
 The 3-part summative self-evaluation for the Learning for Life Unit is conducted in the 12th grade. The assessment culminates the work that students have completed in prior grades and encourages students to reflect and project regarding the knowledge and skill required to successfully achieve their goals and continue as life-long learners. The assessment follows this lesson. It may be photocopied for your students' use.

Lesson Preparation

Essential Question: How do time management, study, and test-taking skills influence life long learning and your attainment of personal goals?

Engagement (Hook): How do you rate yourself? Show me 5, 4, 3, 2, 1 (5 being the highest, 1 being the lowest) in each area by holding up your number of self-rating.
 Self Management -Show Me. (watch for students' ratings)
 Study Skills -Show Me. (watch for students' ratings)

Procedures

Instructor Procedures/Instructional Strategies:	Student Involvement/Instructional Activities:
<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. The counselor will give each senior Part One of the 9-12 Summative Self-Evaluation for AD 4. Part One allows for each senior to rate himself or herself in the areas of time management, study skills, and test-taking skills. 2. The counselor will lead a brief discussion of the skills that were rated as the highest and which were rated as the lowest. 3. The counselor will administer Part Two of the 9-12 Summative Self-Evaluation for AD 4. Part Two allows each student to identify and discuss situations in which specific skills were used and situations in which he or she didn't have the specific skills to be successful. 4. The counselor will lead a brief discussion about skills successful learners use. During the discussion, stress the need to continue to maintain strong skills as well as develop weaker skills in order to be a successful life-long learner. 5. The counselor will administer Part Three of the 9-12 Summative Self-Evaluation for AD 4. Part Three encourages learners to project how they will use the three skill areas (Time Management, Study Skills, Test-taking Skills) to achieve post-secondary goals and life-long learning. 6. The counselor will work with the Communication Arts teacher to devise a possible grading system for the personal essays. It is recommended that the counselor collect the students' AD 4 Summative Self-Evaluation, copy them and place one in the student's permanent folder 	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> 1. Students will rate themselves Good, Average, or Poor for 27 skills they have learned throughout their educational experience. 2. In pairs students will describe their strongest and weakest skills and discuss the implications for their success with their partners. 3. Students will give examples of times in which they used their stronger skills to be a successful learner as well as times they were not successful because their skills were not as strong or were not acquired. Students will complete a chart on which they list skills that will be important to them for their post-secondary choices. 4. Students will volunteer responses during the discussion and brainstorm possible ways to improve their weaker skills. 5. Students will write a personal essay in which they hypothesize how the skills they have learned in their educational experience will help them achieve their post-secondary goals and continue to be a lifelong learner. 6. Students submit their completed AD 4 Summative Self-Evaluation, so the counselor can copy them and return the original to student.

and return the original to student.

Teacher Follow-Up Activities

One possible follow-up activity would be for teachers to discuss skills that students feel comfortable using when they are out of high school and skills that they feel they should continue to develop. Teachers may be able to incorporate these skills into future lessons to help the students continue to develop.
