CD.7.B.06.a.i: Recognize the career path concept as an organizer for exploring and preparing for careers now and in the future.

CD.7.C.06.a.i: Recognize non-traditional work roles.

CD.8.A.06.a.i: Evaluate career and educational information resources.

CD.8.B.06.a.i: Compare the different types of post-secondary training and education as they relate to career choices.

American School Counselor Association (ASCA) National Standard:

Career Development

A: Students will acquire the skills to investigate the world of work in relation to knowledge of self and to make informed career decisions.

C: Students will understand the relationship between personal qualities, education, training and the world of work.

Materials (include activity sheets and/ or supporting resources)

Please note: This strategy requires the use of a product wrapper to emphasize the involvement and importance of the roles of all workers creating a product and getting it into the hands of the purchaser. The unit/lessons were developed before the new “Guidelines for Healthy Snacks” were issued. We retained the use of the Tootsie Roll™ as an example with the caveat that the presenter review the “Healthy Snack Guidelines” and local school district’s implementation policy. As for any lesson involving food, health implications must be considered regarding food allergies and sensitivities. Doing so puts into action our own respect for diversity and for our roles as agents of school board policies and Missouri’s Rules and Regulations.*

Lesson Measurable Learning Objectives:

A student will categorize 36 jobs into six career paths.

Lesson Formative Assessment (acceptable evidence):

Assessment should relate to the performance outcome for goals, objectives and GLSs.

Assessment can be question/answer, performance activity, etc.

The student will categorize 36 jobs into the 6 career paths.

The student will complete a work interview, using findings from activities and card sort.

Lesson Preparation

Essential Questions: How do the career paths relate to who you are?

Engagement (Hook): Students will be asked to think of something that they have to do, but don't like. Then, they will be asked to think of doing that activity 8 hours a day, 40 hours a week for 40 years. Although they would be paid well, they would be locked into that task.

Next, students are asked to imagine something that they enjoy doing. Then they will be asked to imagine doing that task 8 hours a day, 40 hours a week for 40 years. Students will be encouraged to recognize that if they are going into a career, it will be a good idea to choose something based on who they are and what they like to do.

Procedures for Session 1

Instructor Procedures/Instructional Strategies:	Student Involvement/Instructional Activities:
<ol style="list-style-type: none"> Review career paths and the attributes of the individuals who work in them, utilizing career path description handout. Display career paths posters on the board or wall. Divide students into task groups. Each group will be given the following materials: Activity Sheet: Career Path Group Project Forms, at least six Occupation Cards per group (see Resource: Occupation Cards), pencil, and sticky tack/tape. Counselors and students will review the established group norms such as, respecting the opinions of others, cooperation, listening, etc. Students are given a 5-minute time limit to perform the task.	<ol style="list-style-type: none"> Students will respond to a question-answer session, such as, "Which path is the fixing and building path?" Given occupation cards, students will confer in their task groups and determine which career path an occupation matches. Each student within the group will be assigned a cooperative group role: For example, a recorder who writes group answers on the project form; a materials person who is responsible for bringing materials to and from the group; a sticky tack or tape person who is responsible for this item; and a poster to post occupation cards on the board/wall. Once the group has made a decision about where each of those jobs fits, the poster from the group will post the occupation cards under the appropriate path poster (on the chalkboard or wall of the classroom).

3. The class will review the answers given by the groups as displayed on the board or wall and make any necessary adjustments based on class check. (NOTE: Some careers may be justifiably placed in more than one career path. When there is noticeable disagreement among class members, this can be addressed accordingly.) 4. (Read note in materials section) Tootsie Roll™ review of Career Paths: The counselor holds up a bag of Tootsie Rolls™ with the back of the package facing the students and asks, “What do you think is in this package?” “How do you know what is inside without seeing the name of the candy?” “Someone had to design the package so that when you see it, you would know what was inside. Which career path would this be?” (Arts & Communication) 5. The counselor will then read from the package ingredient list, i.e., sugar, partially hydrogenated soybean oil, milk, etc. “Which career path produces these items?” (Natural Resources) 6. “Now, imagine that you are working in the Tootsie Roll™ factory. Suddenly, the Tootsie Roll™ machine breaks down. Which career path are you going to call for help?” (Industrial & Engineering Technology) 7. “When is the best time to ship more Tootsie Rolls™ to the store—before or after Halloween? This is called marketing. Someone in an office needs to figure out where and when to make more candy. You have come up with a new recipe of "Tootsie Roll™ Surprise," a super brownie that features Tootsie Rolls™. What career path would your job fall into?" (Human Services) 10. Ask students: As we were talking about the roles of the many workers it took to get the Tootsie Roll™ to the people who buy or use them, what did you imagine? What were you wondering? What did our conversation make you remember from other conversations about workers? What do you still want to know about workers and their roles in our lives? 11. Distribute the Activity Sheet: Worker Interview (two to each student—one for practice interview; another for actual interview). Tell students that they will be interviewing a worker they know regarding his or her occupation. But first, they'll practice by interviewing a peer-partner. Ask students what they remember/know about conducting interviews. As students identify what they remember, make a list on the board (or other media that will allow for all students to see the list). Review the list; add and/or synthesize skills so that students know that successful (and interesting) interviewing requires the use of a variety of skills they can learn. 12. Randomly assign students a peer-partner. Each person will have an opportunity to be the interviewee and the interviewer. As the interviewee, each person will assume the role of a worker and respond to the	9. Students will respond to questions as a check for understanding. 10. In small groups, pairs or as a large group, students will respond with personalized information about their own thought processes during the conversation. 11. Students will contribute to list of interviewing skills. 12. Students will select the worker role they will assume; review "Worker Interview" questions; and participate in practice interviews.

questions as if he or she were working in that work role (encourage outrageous roles). Give students time to review the Activity Sheet: Worker Interview from the perspective of the interviewee or the interviewer. At the end of 5 minutes, stop the interviews for a “quick-check” of the process. Have partners switch roles and follow the same procedures. 13. Following students’ practice interviews, facilitate a discussion about the easy/hard parts of the process and the questions that will be difficult to ask an adult. Respond to questions. Assign the due date for completion of the interview. 14. Help students identify potential individuals to interview. Writing down the names of the interviewees will strengthen students’ commitment to completing the project. Note: The most readily available worker is a parent or caregiver—students may also interview someone from the community. Whomever students choose to interview may be employed in the civilian workforce, unemployed or a stay-at-home parent. Encourage students to consider whatever the interviewee is doing as his or her job. The same questions apply (with minor modifications) to any job and the students will gain a wealth of information about work, working and workers by interviewing people who are not in the civilian workforce. This will help students develop greater understanding and respect for all human beings. Alternatively, students may choose to ask individuals who are unemployed or stay-at-home parents to respond from the perspective of a past work role they have had in the civilian workforce.	13. Students will reflect on process and ask clarifying questions about the procedures and/or process. 14. Students will complete the worker interview forms in keeping with the instructions given by the counselor.

Teacher Follow-Up Activities

Ask the classroom teacher to collect student interviews in preparation for the next guidance session. Some communication arts teachers may be interested in working with the counselor in a team-teaching capacity by having students write an essay about their interview, using the interview form as a prewriting tool.
