

?Cell Phones? ?Which one is Best for Me?

Using the Decision Making Model – You are going to choose a cell phone and plan that is right for you.

Before you begin – think about the answers to the following question:

- § What can you afford to spend on a phone per month?
- § How many minutes will you use your cell phone per month?
- § How long do you want to stay with the current cell phone provider?
- § What kind of phone do you want and how much are you willing to pay for that phone?

Go online and compare three cell phone plans.

Cell Phone Comparison Chart
Company Name	Basic Plan	Basic Plan	Basic Plan
Monthly Cost
Minutes Included
Phone Included
Length of Contract
Cost per minute over the basic plan
Coverage Area
Cost of Text Messaging
Other Fees
Other
Other

Take the information from the chart above and make a decision on which plan you will select using one of the decision-making techniques we discussed in class. Defend your choice in an essay.