Lesson Preparation

Essential Questions:

How do people share their strengths and skills with others?

Engagement (Hook):

Enter class with a folder full of resumes. Start sorting the resumes into two categories in front of the students, ones that an employer would consider and those that would be thrown away.

Procedures

Instructor Procedures/Instructional Strategies:

- 1. Ask students: "What makes the difference between a resume that is considered and one that is thrown away? We're going to explore ways to develop resumes that attract a potential employer to the paper you." Counselor hands out sample resumes.
- 2. Have students get into groups of 3 or 4. Tell them to review the sample resumes as if they were employers and group the resumes into ones that would be considered and ones that would be rejected. When they have grouped the resumes, ask them to review each group and identify positive and negative characteristics.
- 3. Instruct students to utilize the positive characteristics of good resumes to develop a checklist for their own resumes.

Student Involvement/Instructional Activities:

- 1. Students contribute ideas about criteria for ratings.
- 2. Students will review the sample resumes, group them into ones that would be considered and ones that would be rejected and develop a group list of positive and negative characteristics.
- 3. Students, in groups, will make a checklist of positive resume characteristics.
